THE UNION

VOL. XVIII.—NO. 161. PORTLAND, OREGON: SATURDAY, AUGUST 10, 1878. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

Yellow Fever at Port Eads.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug 9.—Seventeen cases of fever have occurred at Port Eads. Of these one died, one recovered and fifteen are under treatment. Being seized with a panic the engineer of the jetties and the fireman took a boat yesterday for Mobile. The laborers also left, many of them coming to the city. Two on arriving here were reported sick and were admitted to the charity hospital. Work at the jetties is reported entirely suspended. The lighthouse keeper has a [illegible] daughter down with fever.

Texas Greenbackers.

A Galveston special says the Greenback state convention at Waco nominated a full state ticket with W H Hammons for the office of governor.

The Lemhi Bannacks.

HELENA, Montana, Aug 9. There is no truth in the report that Ten Doy's band of Bannacks had left the agency with hostile intent. They are proceeding under escort of U S troops to the buffalo country. It is claimed there are no provisions at the agency. They have been subsisting on rabbits and squirrels. One of their number stealing some things from a ranch at Beaver Head canyon was shot and killed by a party on the lookout for the thief. Considerable excitement was thus caused, through uncertainty as to how the Bannacks might regard it. Ten Doy was notified of the deed, and on seeing the remains of the thief said, "He was bad Indian, bury him."

A Scare about Hand Grenades.

NEW YORK, Aug 9.—The World's Cincinnati special says: Considerable excitement was occasioned here by the discovery that a manufacturer in this city is engaged in making a large quantity of hand grenades. An Enquirer reporter called on him to-day and was informed that he was making them, but whether they were for communists or not he declined to say. He said, however, that he had already received an order for 20,000 from California parties. That was all he knew or wanted to know. It is suspected that the grenades are for communists of this section. A letter recently received by officers of the Socialistic labor party here from a leader of the communists in Pennsylvania, said that the communists were armed with hand grenades and prepared for effective work when the time would come.

South Carolina Republicans.

COLUMBIA, S C, Aug 8.—The Republican state convention was in secret session the greater part of the day. The platform declares that the principles of equal, civil and political rights can only be enforced by the Republican party, reiterates abhorrence of violence, intimidation and frauds in elections, denounces the practice of Democrats attending Republican meetings, charges Democrats with being unfaithful to pledges of 1876, denounces Democrats for frauds, violence and intimidation in 1876, for assassinations and murders during that campaign, and for subsequent violent seizure of the state government, denounces unseating of certain Republican members of the legislature, arraigns Democrats for abolishing or removing certain election precincts, arraigns the so called fraud investigation, reaffirms belief in the fair election of Hayes and Chamberlain and pledges the Republican party to the work of purifying the public service. Following is the ninth article of the platform:

We deem it inexpedient to nominate candidates for governor and other state offices, because owing to the condition of affairs in this state occasioned by rifle club rule and two years of Democratic supremacy it is impossible for Republican voters in many counties, without incurring great personal danger, to organize for the campaign or to vote at the election when held.

The Bankers' Association.

SARATOGA, Aug 8.—In the bankers association to-day J. D. Vermilye of New York presented an elaborate table prepared at the clearing house showing the disastrous effects produced and still menacing the country by reason of excessive taxation of banks. He showed how the capital and surplus of banks had been depleted during the past few years and asked the executive council to take action to bring the facts to the knowledge of congress. The executive council reported the following:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this association the near approach of the day appointed by law for resumption of coin payments and value is to be hailed as an event of highest significance to the prosperity and welfare of the whole nation because it is the only means by which industry, trade and general tranquillity and contentment can be restored to the people. The American banker association therefor pledge their aid and support to government in returning to the specie standard in transaction of the financial affairs of the country.

Resolved, That the resources of the country arising from abundant crops of successive years, extraordinary mineral wealth, large credit balances of trade with other nations and from rapid development of mechanical inventions and appliances by which productive industry has been facilitated and increased all happily concur in supplying necessary means for coin resumption.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously.

Explosion of Kerosine.

NEW YORK, Aug 9.—A barrel of kerosine exploded in Sleiger's grocery store on Barclay street this morning injuring one of the employes and setting the building on fire. While the firemen were at work subduing the flames another barrel exploded severely injuring five of them.

Woman Suffrage.

CONCORD, N H, Aug 9.—The bill allowing women to vote in school meetings passed the house of representatives yesterday. It had previously passed the senate by a vote of 9 to 3. This is the first substantial legislative victory won by woman suffragists in New England.

Ship Sold.

NEW YORK, Aug 9.—The Black Ball packet ship Great Western has been sold to parties in San Francisco for the coal trade. This ship was built by Wm H Webb at a time when New York built and stood prominent for construction, material and speed. The Great Western is built almost entirely of live oak, locust and red cedar, and her model is that of our fast sailing men of war, very few of our sharpest clippers being able to compete with them, particularly in heavy weather. She will outrun many ships of much later construction. She is at present loading in the California line, and is in beautiful order.

Keene Buys a Country Seat.

NEW YORK, Aug 9.—It is said that James R. Keene has purchased the country seat of S. M. L. Barlow at Glen Cove on Long Island Sound, paying $200,000. It was many years the property of Burton the actor, who spent a large sum of money to beautify it.

Yellow Fever.

NEW YORK, Aug 9.—New cases 44; deaths 12.

A Domestic Tragedy.

MILWAUKEE, Aug 8.—About 6 o'clock this morning Henry Van Ryn was found by his wife lying dead upon the bedroom floor with his throat cut from ear to ear. Van Ryn had quarreled with his wife during the night and she says that a[illegible] in the morning after a [illegible] declared she was awakened by a [illegible] blow upon the temple. She sprang from the bed and found her husband standing before her with a bar of iron. His manner was so threatening that she fled down stairs. While bathing her head she heard a noise overhead as of some one falling. Going up [illegible] she found [illegible] her husband lying upon the floor in a pool of blood. Near his hand was a [illegible] razor. Some [illegible] Mrs Van Ryn's version.

The Moonshine Whisky Makers.

CHARLESTON, Aug [illegible].—In the U S court yesterday one hundred and thirty eight illicit distillers plead guilty with the understanding that judgment be suspended and they no more violate law.

A Strike Impending.

DUNELLEN, N J, Aug 9.—In accordance with programme of the miners national organization it has been agreed that a general strike shall be made on [illegible] the 1st. Trouble in the coal regions of Pennsylvania will be started probably in the Lehigh region. The cause is [illegible] to raise w

Steamer Freights.

NEW YORK, Aug 9.—The [illegible] increased rates of freight the directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship company [illegible] considered the subject and referred the whole matter to President [illegible].

Officers of the Bankers' Association.

SARATOGA, Aug 9.—The Bankers' National Association organized to-day [illegible] Mitchell, president of the Marine and Fire Insurance Company's Bank of Milwaukee, was elected president of the association and Jacob D Vermilye, president of Merchants National Bank of New York, vice president. The executive counsel reported on the proposition to have efforts made to procure an amendment of the national bank act to allow banks to take 7 per cent in states where the local law only allowed it, that the action was not expedient. Papers were submitted on the usury laws of Pennsylvania by J. H. Rivers of Pittsburg and on bank taxation by D. J. Fallis of Cincinnati. The executive council was directed to distribute the proceedings in pamphlet form. The executive counsel was authorized and requested to continue appeals to congress and state governments for the amelioration of bank taxation.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Here is a Wonderful Thing.

CHICAGO, Aug 9.—The Tribune's Washington special says the president made a significant remark to-day. Jorgensen, Republican nominee from the Petersburg, Va, congressional district said to the president he supposed the Democratic postmaster of Petersburg was afraid to render him any assistance on account of the president's civil service order. The president replied that he need have no fears so long as he did not allow his political work to interfere with his official duties.

South Carolina Comes Down.

WASHINGTON, Aug 9.—The surrender of the imprisoned revenue officials to the federal authorities at Greenville, S C, yesterday is regarded as being in pursuance of an understanding between the president and Wade Hampton whereby the government agrees not to prosecute those illicit distillers in South Carolina who surrender themselves and promise to strictly observe the revenue laws in future.

Hayes will Put Up.

Representative Foster says President Hayes will give the Republican congressional committee as much money as did his predecessor (Gen Grant) who drew his check for five thousand. Representative Hunton of Virginia, is here, but has not yet met Columbus Alexander.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Military Movements.

LONDON, Aug 9.—Russians have begun to occupy Varna. A proclamation has been issued in Herzegovina announcing that all persons who offer resistance to Austrians will be tried by drum head court martial.

A Vienna dispatch says Caratheodori Pasha yesterday received fresh instructions of a conciliatory character and communicated them to Count Andrassy. It is stated that foreign embassadors have induced the porte to withdraw the circular he had prepared on the Greek question and to substitute one more conciliatory.

Russian Army Movements.

LONDON, Aug 8.—Russian army corps are concentrating between Kustendji and Sophia.

Russian Comments.

ST PETERSBURG, Aug 8.—The Official Messenger to-day dwells upon smallness of material advantages which have accrued to Russia through disregard by the Berlin congress of considerations of race in fixing frontiers. It says the task of Russia is now to see that the conclusions reached are carried into execution to the smallest point, and that if the porte does not observe strictly the conditions of the treaty it signs its own sentence.

The privy councillor and Senator Giers are appointed to the administration of foreign office during the temporary absence of Gortschakoff.

Kars Destroyed.

ST PETERSBURG, Aug 9.—A dispatch dated Tiflis Aug 21 reports that an explosion had occurred in the mines of the fortifications of Kars resulting in a fire which destroyed the best portion of the city.

Miscellaneous European News.

BERNE, Aug 9.—The Swiss national council voted $1,300,000 towards completing St Gothard tunnel.

Letters to several newspapers allude to the Italian propaganda in Bosnia. One journal says the landing of a number of Italian revolutionists is expected in Albania. The Opinion of Rome, denies the truth of the report.

London Radicals of Southwark propose to nominate Miss Helen Taylor for Parliament at the next general election and thus practically raise the question of women's rights.

A meeting of the executive committee of Home Rule confederation Wednesday passed a resolution strongly condemning Dr Isaac Butt, Liberal and Home Ruler member for Limerick and the majority of Home Rule members for their conciliatory policy toward the government. This is probably the first step in the crusade against Dr Butt's leadership which is ended for all practical purposes.

In the house of commons last night Sir Stafford Northcote said the government proposed to give careful consideration to administrative reforms in Asiatic Turkey. The reforms eventually agreed upon with Turkey would be guaranteed by treaty.

The Labor Question in the Clyde Shipyards.

LONDON, Aug 9.—Mechanics in shipyards on the Clyde refuse either an increase of the hours of labor or ten per cent reduction of wages.

Bitten by the Third Term Flea.

(From the Boston Herald, Ind.)

It is not at all unlikely that General Grant will be the next Republican candidate for president if the old parties as at present constituted continue to oppose each other. With all the faults of his administration he has still a strong hold on the people added to the vigorous partisanship of the large number of politicians who had a better time while he was in the White House than they have had since. He is to stay abroad another year and his capacity for holding his tongue is a great card in his favor. What other candidate as things now look would be so strong in 1880? What other Republican has so much push behind him or so much "Hurrah for him"? It is useless to shut our eyes to the probabilities and impossible to laugh them away. And the idea that General Grant will decline to be a candidate is ridiculous.

Ritualism in England.

LONDON, Aug [illegible].—Mr M[illegible], incumbent of St Albans, Holborn, [illegible] been [illegible] from his clerical functions for three years by [illegible] sentence [illegible] in refusing to obey [illegible] ritualist practices appeal [illegible]. Appeal was heard this week in the [illegible] of high court of justice and as the decision was rendered yesterday in favor of appellant the court issued a writ of prohibition directed against [illegible].

This is Just so.

(From the New York Tribune.)

In reality there is nothing in the nature of things to make the poor poorer because the rich grow richer any more than there is to make the high intellectual acquisition by the few dependent on the densest ignorance of the many.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Mining Litigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug [illegible].—[illegible] Judge Morrison rendered a decision in the case of J. A. [illegible] of [illegible] company [illegible] with privilege [illegible] mining work on mine the company [illegible] that [illegible] twelfth [illegible] very slowly [illegible] points.

The Regular Suicide.

SAN JOSE, Aug [illegible].—[illegible] Smith, [illegible] committed suicide last night by [illegible] the body was not discovered till this afternoon.

Heavy Sale of Silver.

The Nevada bank has sold 1,000,000 ounces fine silver to government, delivered to the mint to-day. The price paid is London rate with cable exchange payable in standard dollars.

A Stock Broker Delinquent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 9.—Wm [illegible] Wood, stock broker and member of the Pacific board has been reported to the secretary as delinquent. Wood has not been seen at his office in Montgomery street since last Monday. His friends state that he is at his residence engaged in fixing up his statements so as to learn how his affairs stand. During the broker's absence a large number of his patrons have called at the office where they were informed by the clerk in charge that Wood intended to come down again in a few days and would then try to satisfactorily arrange matters with his customers and creditors. Considerable anxiety is felt among some having dealings with Wood. The safe was opened in their presence on Tuesday last but was found to contain neither money nor stocks. In the event of a settlement not being made within a stated time the proceeds of Wood's seat in the Pacific board will be apportioned among his creditors. There was a little sensation in front of his office this morning on account of the tearful accusations of an unfortunate lady who deposited some $1,000 with Wood for the purchase of stocks just before he closed up. The talk on the streets is that he has gone to the springs.

The grand jury has ignored the bill for murder against Israel Hanrahan who killed his wife and paramour with an ax in his house on Clara street a month ago. Hanrahan was brought down from the county jail with others to be set at liberty but the district attorney ordered him to be sent back again and announced that the grand jury has concluded to reinvestigate the case.

The More Murder Trials.

SAN BUENAVENTURA, Aug 9.—In the district court this morning the Lord jury, which had been out all night, sent in request to be called into court and discharged as it was impossible for them to agree. The court thought that upon further consideration the jury might arrive at a verdict and refused the request. Motion for new trial in the case of Sprague on the ground that the deputy sheriff had communicated information to the jury bearing upon the case, was denied, defence excepting.

The Trials Ended for a Term.

SAN BUENAVENTURA, Aug 9.—After twenty four hours of animated discussion the jury in the Lord case came into court at 5 P M and informed the court that there was no possibility of agreeing upon a verdict, whereupon his honor discharged them from further consideration of the case. This closes the trial for the term here but the case of Sprague will be at once taken to the Supreme Court on bill of exceptions. It is a notable fact that of four detectives who were employed in getting up the case not one has been put upon the stand. The defence will call them in succeeding trials in hopes of getting at the true inwardness of some of the testimony. There are free assertions on the streets that Lord and Hunt have been substituted by the prosecution for two other parties who were present at the killing. It is said Jones will be arrested for arson in assisting at the burning of Moore's barn but there seems to be no testimony except his own.

Heavy Failure in Yolo County.

VALLEJO, Aug 9.—P M Mansfield of Winters, Yolo county, a heavy merchant and wheat dealer, has failed. His store was attached Wednesday for a debt of $30,000. His total liabilities are estimated at $280,000. The failure will prove a disaster to a large number of farmers and others in his vicinity, several hundred of whom he is owing. Vaca valley railroad, of which he is part owner with Stevenson Bros, has been placed in the hands of Lloyd Tevis, mortgagee.

Justifiable to Kill Tramps.

STOCKTON, Aug 9.—The coroner's jury in the case of the tramp killed by Norris, brakeman of the Western Pacific train yesterday while attempting to board the train found a verdict of justifiable homicide. Norris was taken before the police judge and discharged in the absence of any complaint.

ARIZONA.

The Indian Scare at Yuma.

YUMA, Aug 9.—The apprehensions of an Indian outbreak are gradually diminishing. The last two nights have passed quietly but the patrol will be kept on duty until every indication of trouble has disappeared. Two companies of U S troops are expected to arrive at Ehrenberg next Wednesday and will take the steamer for Yuma.

Rattlesnake Jack's Trophies.

(From the Grant County Times, August 3.)

Rattlesnake Jack returned to this city last Saturday having succeeded in capturing four Bannack and Piute scalps besides killing several more whose top knots he had not time to remove. A purse of $30 was raised for him Saturday night and Monday he and two others started out to Fox valley on a scout. They were gone two days, returning Wednesday. They came upon a band of horses in that valley and started to drive them off when two Indians who were watching them rode in ahead and ran the horses off in the direction of the hostile camp which Jack says is in Fox valley and that he believes the hostiles number 200 warriors.

A place of torture was discovered by Jack in Fox valley,—a pit had been dug some three feet deep and some three cords of pitch wood were piled in close proximity to the pit, evidently prepared for the purpose of burning such unlucky whites as might fall into their clutches. The Indians tried to waylay Jack's party in a rocky canyon but Jack made a [illegible] of the place.

No Opposition.

A Southern journal speaking of the can[illegible] by Hon Alexander H Stephens [illegible] making any fuss about it. No rival appears [illegible] why he should be [illegible] says: It will not do for the friends of Mr Stephens to call him the living statesman any longer [illegible] feebleness when congress meets next winter.

A very funny episode [illegible] Aleck Stephens [illegible] Jeffersonian Democracy [illegible] moment drew a little bottle of bourbon from his pocket, took a pull at it and returning the bottle to his pocket resumed the thread of his argument with the remark, "Yes fellow citizens this is true Democracy." Nobody rose to question the regularity of Mr Stephens' Democracy.

MATERIALS FOR NEW SOLAR SYSTEMS

DARK SUNS [illegible] VAST [illegible] THAT WAIT [illegible] THE [illegible] SCHEME OF THE UNIVERSE

(From the New York World.)

For some years it has been known that among the stars there are immense bodies which are dark, or like the planets shine with a slight reflected light. Such a star is the dark companion of Sirius which is about seven times as large as our sun, and another [illegible] the nebular hypothesis [illegible] that the [illegible] are dead suns which have already arrived at the state in which the centre of our own solar system will be when the planets [illegible] shall have fallen into it and its heat shall have [illegible] through which it then will wait [illegible] longer life-giving. There is a theory entertained by many scientists that when processes similar to this but on an inconceivably grander scale shall have been wrought to their penultimate result two vast bodies alone will be left in the material universe and these, speeding towards each other with ever accelerating velocity through an almost infinite distance will finally clash together and generate sufficient heat to disseminate the matter out to its original boundaries gradually to return again to its state at the moment of the grand collision. According to a theory recently developed in Germany the dark suns blaze up again with a quasi spontaneity of their own which does not depend upon collision but upon causes which render it by no means improbable that at any moment any of them may burst into flame and perhaps bring about the premature destruction of neighboring systems. We have but to suppose that such a star is near us big with catastrophe to see how possible at any moment is the coming of the dies iræ. Our own sun is but a pigmy which seen from the farthest of its own planets to whose orbit its own bulk once extended would but glimmer like a star, and it is far on its road to extinguishment, yet it still radiates at every second heat enough to melt 287,200,000 cubic miles of ice. The dark companion of the dog star—which itself has undergone such changes in physical constitution in 1,800 years that it has turned from a star redder than Mars to one that is now nearly azure—is now burnt out and contracted to its smallest dimensions and yet it is seven times as large as the sun. No imagination is strong enough to conceive the amount of heat which would be thrown out from it should it wake from its inactivity and once more become a living sun. According to the Loschmidt theory which holds that such dark bodies absorb into their interiors heat from space until so much is accumulated that they burst into flame again such a calamity is not only probable but certain. The phenomena of temporary stars are explicable upon this theory. Of these are that which appeared in the time of Tycho Brahe which suddenly appeared as bright as Venus and continued visible with various tints for seventeen months and then disappeared again, and the stars in Cassiopeia which came and vanished during 300 years, that which was seen by Hind in 1848 in Ophiuchus and another in the constellation of the Crown which excited attention in 1866. These instances show moreover how great the number of these now dark bodies must be. The potential energy of the stellar universe is thus ceaselessly converted into actual working force of which we see but little. The conversion must be ceaseless because throughout space there are systems small and great in every conceivable physical condition from the youngest to the middle aged, the decrepit and the dead.

As planets fall into their suns so systems are merged into systems and that to which our earth belongs has been shown by Huggins to be perceptibly approaching some great congeries of stars and receding from others as it hastens on through space to an unknown destination. It follows from the nebular theory that there exist vast central suns which cannot be seen, having long since reached that period in their cooling at which it is impossible for them to emit light. That period, long past, has been succeeded by another in which they are accumulating heat which at any time may explode them and cause the firmament to melt with fervent heat and consume the minor systems like stubble. The final day of the earth is not therefore necessarily so remote as previous deductions from the nebular theory have led scientific men to believe. The grand universal catastrophe and redistribution of matter is delayed if Herr Loschmidt's theory be valid, but previous to it many minor violent disruptions must take place wholly unheralded by signs in the heavens. Indeed a near approach to one of these great and seemingly worn out suns even if no catastrophe of outbreak were imminent would work such havoc with gravitation that the planets could no longer be governed as now by the sun, and what then would occur let those who study the still unsolved "problem of three bodies" determine at their leisure. For our own part we shall try to possess our souls in patience and let the sun spots account for our heated terms and not insist that they are properly referable to any such cosmical cause as a very warm body to which we are fast hastening and which will presently flare up and disseminate our mortal frames to regions far beyond the tail of Orion's dog.

Hookey Walker—My Eye and Betty Martin.

(From Blackwood's Magazine.)

A restriction has taken place in the case of "Hookey Walker"—an expression of incredulity which to do it sufficient justice requires to be accompanied by a facial pantomime and which comes from thugad be gone and uill eche boaster and therefore signified originally "Begone vain boaster!" The original phrase would have done honor to Ossian or might with perfect propriety have been put into the mouth of Arthur or of Vortigern, but to what base uses may not words be brought? It is but right to add on the authority of the Saturday Review that there was a hook nosed Jew, the exhibitor of an orrery, whose memory the phrase is said to perpetuate, and a correspondent of the same journal asserts that "Hookey Walker" was a magistrate held in great dread by the criminal classes and that break [illegible] moreover had its origin in a prominent feature of the same authority's countenance. We are ashamed to say that we prefer this derivation, commonplace though it be, to the latency theory. "My eye," which used formerly to be associated with Betty Martin and was popularly believed to originate in a line of an old Latin canticle beginning Mihi Beate Martine, is the Gaelic mo thaigh (pronounced mo-yoe) a common Celtic exclamation of delight. "Boss," which came to us originally as a Yankee notion and which our equality loving workmen seem to consider preferable to the old Saxon "master," is derived from bos the [illegible] blance of the Gaelic word.

The politicians who banished Gen Grant out of the country and planned for his triumphal return just before the presidential conventions meet, must have done so on the principle that a rolling stone catches the worm.

At the sale of the property of the Pioneer Oil Company at Salem Mr Bush purchased the Holman block, corner of Commercial and Ferry streets, for $11,000. The oil mills will be started up next week by C. W. Gray & Co.

Hillsboro Independent: A Chinaman 16 years old who is at work on Mr A. H. Garrison's place has bought him a spelling book and begun the study of our tongue. Mr Garrison taught him the alphabet, which he learned in a few hours. He says he intends to attend the public school at Hillsboro this winter.

We learn from the Grant county Times that on the 2d Gen Brown with thirty two men left for Bear valley where his headquarters will be for a while. Fourteen men were sent to scout in the Olive creek country and fourteen to watch the passes along Murderer's creek while the main command will rendezvous at Bear valley.

Yamhill letter: "The harvest has commenced in earnest, the self binding harvester being the favorite among our famers. When we see the well to do farmer sitting on the fence, watching one man and a team doing the work that formerly required several hands and many horses, we naturally conclude that the world is moving on rapidly in improvement."

Grant county Times: Frank, little son of Mrs Smythe of Camp Harney was drowned in Rattlesnake creek last Wednesday. The grief stricken mother is certainly having more than her share of human affliction. Her husband and son were both murdered by the Indians, her home and property destroyed, all within the last month; now the bereavement of her child is most sorrowful.

Daniel Wells, aged 45, committed suicide in the court house at Salem on Thursday afternoon by taking arsenic. While in the agonies of death he admitted that he had taken the poison but gave no reason for it. A supposed reason was found in the fact that he had been at the Bennett house about two weeks, had been suffering with the chills and fever, was out of money, was out of work and saw no prospect of any while in his sickly state and becoming depressed in mind ended his life.

Yamhill Reporter: "On Monday of last week a little son of Mr Parker of Grand Ronde, received a painful wound from a gun shot tearing and lacerating the flesh on his side in a frightful manner. The little fellow was out hunting in company with an older brother, who laid his gun down and went some little distance from it and sent his brother back after it. Not being strong enough to carry the weapon, the boy was dragging it on the ground when it was discharged with the above result."

On the morning of July 23d J W Vardaman, a rancher living one and a quarter miles from Susanville on Elk creek, was shot and killed by Indians, three balls penetrating his body. He was found on the morning of the 24th by Mr Blake and others. From appearances he was sitting in a chair on his porch when the red devils fired upon him. His body was not touched but his house was ransacked and two horses and a saddle stolen. Deceased was about sixty years of age and well respected. His partner was killed by Snake Indians seven miles from Canyon City in 1866 while en route to Elk creek. The body of Vardaman was buried near his premises.

Voltaire and Rousseau.

(From Louis Blanc's Speech on the Centenary of Rousseau's Death.)

The revolution dates so far back, so many intellectual efforts, such injustice and suffering, conduced to render it inevitable that it is impossible to determine exactly the share this and that man contributed in the causes which led to it. Certain it is however that in it are to be found the vivid trace of the two doctrines which were represented in the eighteenth century—the one by the Encyclopedists, the other by Rousseau. The first, that of the sovereignty of the ego, predominated in the constituent assembly, the second, that of social law, predominated in the convention. The Girondins were inspired by the former, the Montagnards by the latter. Who but would gladly forget what resulted from their antagonism? And yet the two conceptions completed each other, far from being contradictory. But the revolution had let loose passions which added their bitterness to the struggle of ideas and had the effect of exaggerating and obscuring them. Between the Girondins and Montagnards there was the same fatal misunderstanding as had existed between Voltaire and Rousseau—a misunderstanding of which Voltaire felt the absurdity, as this admirable expression of his testifies—'Jean Jacques and myself are like St Peter and St Paul.' And why should we allow the recollection of those who have made us what we are to cast trouble in our ranks? Why should we weary ourselves in seeking what divides us when it would be so easy to find what unites us? Why should not our efforts tend to hasten the arrival of the moment when democracy shall be like the sun which shines for every one alike? Yes, you were like St Peter and St Paul, the immortal creators of the new order. What boots it that, broken up by different points of view and deceived by these differences, you did not know yourselves how you labored in common? We know it, having learned by the blaze of the torches which you lighted. Be then united in our admiration! Be reconciled forever in our gratitude. To wish this is of all the marks of homage we can give, the most useful to humanity, and the most worthy of you.

The Salaries of Circus Men.

(From the Cleveland Herald.)

How are the salaries of the performers in the equestrian profession, Mr Barnum?

Well, I pay my best rider $100 a day, Sunday included, that is $700 a week. The leading lady equestrienne gets $300—they generally receive about $150 to $200 from other concerns. Pad-riders get about—well say from $100 to $125 per week.

How are the acrobats and gymnasts and that class of performers paid?

From $50 to $100 per week according to ability and the length of their performance. There are a great many of them to be had, always plenty on the market, but I always have the best.

Do clowns receive [illegible]

Clowns always command good salaries, and a really first class clown is worth from $[illegible] per week [illegible] such as Ted Almonte [illegible] who died recently was [illegible] more in the season.

[illegible]

Horace Seymour is evidently [illegible] about who is to be president next time. Happening along the little lake at Ballston, New York, the other day he got down out of his carriage, leaned against a tree, folded his arms and devoted one half hour to watching a tub race between the juvenile villagers.

FAMOUS NEWGATE

From the Cincinnati Gazette.

The famous London prison Newgate is soon to be destroyed and the site employed for other purposes. The present structure was built in 1780 and was immediately preceded by a building erected by the executors of Mayor Whittington of cat notoriety in the fifteenth century. There was a still earlier prison standing at the new gate of the city whence it and its successors derived their name. A gloomier receptacle for prisoners could hardly be devised than the one now to be superseded by something as strong, yet it is to be hoped less provocative of utter despair. It is all gray stone, iron bars and whitewash. The central courts in which all but capital offenders are permitted to spend a few hours of the day are paved with stone flags, with not a foot of earth or turf in sight, while under a wharf between these courts are deposited all that was left of executed criminals after their bodies have been covered with quicklime. Initials cut in the slabs indicate where each remnant has been consigned. The executions of late years have taken place in one of the courts. Formerly a scaffold was built in the street, reached by the criminal and his attendants through a door that opens from the second story of the building. Up to 1785 the hangings took place at Tyburn, the criminal having a long ride to that distant locality. Hogarth has left a characteristic picture of the scene as the condemned man approached the gallows sitting on his own coffin. The government seems to have been pleased with the results of hanging men in front of the prison, for in December 1785 about twenty were executed there. Those were the days when English law was of more than Draconic severity. About that time the poor young wife of a man who had been forced into the army attempted to steal a piece of cloth from a shop to pawn for food for herself and her starving child. There was considerable pity for her even at that hard hearted era, but there had been many instances of shoplifting, an example was needed, and so the poor girl—she was hardly out of her teens—was hanged as a warning.

The room in Newgate where the iron fetters were knocked off the criminal previous to execution and where leather straps for binding the legs and arms, a dimly lighted apartment separated by a short passage from the door above mentioned, is gloomy enough in itself, but trebly so from the incalculable horrors that it suggests. How much of concentrated silent despair has been felt within its walls no one can estimate. Consciousness of the folly of resistance, an overpowering sense of helplessness, and dogged submission to the inevitable, may seal the lips, and even add firmness to the muscles, but they cannot lift the weight of agony from the soul.

It is told in the annals of the prison how, about fifty years ago, one poor youth under the ministrations of the ordinary or chaplain, had become apparently resigned to his fate. No sooner, however, did he see the executioner making ready to bind him than the instinct of self preservation returned and roused him to frenzy. He fought like a wild beast until overpowered and bound, he was taken to the fatal platform, and the sentence of the law carried out. Newgate is full of frightful associations and traditions. It is inseparably linked to a period when people were hanged for misdemeanors and peccadilloes, and it is well that there should be a new jail, whose existence shall begin in our own more humane age. We have no sentimental feelings to waste over criminals. They should be safely locked up and adequately punished for their misdeeds, but all law breakers are not wretches only fit for the noose of the executioner, and it is well that this fact should be recognized in prison architecture and prison discipline as well as in the sentences of courts.

BEAUTIFUL ACTRESSES.

(From Appleton's Journal.)

Sarah Siddons was incomparable. Her first painter told her that she was like an antique sculpture of Ariadne. She was taken by surprise, and began to say, "Yes! it is very like—" but stopped herself and said, "it is very beautiful!" They spoke of her "gorgeous affliction." Even weeping did not touch that perfect nose with its unbecoming rouge. She could writhe, frown, fume, weep, die and still be beautiful. She could command her eye to take on the sad vacant oblivion which has carried consternation to our hearts. She could send them into the next world with all their terrible introspection painted on the iris. And then in Desdemona her beauty sweetened tragedy. But she was handsome every day. In the National Academy she is charmingly beautiful in a modern way—in a Gainsborough bust—dressed in striped silk, with a little muff in her hand. Lady Dudley had the dress copied by Worth—it is almost exactly the gown of to-day. It would be pleasant, were it not so old a story, to tell again that record of blameless life, abounding genius, common sense, piety, simplicity and prudence, which accompanied this beautiful actress, but it is too well known to us all. She was not arch, she could not play Rosalind. Humor was left out. Those delicious women—I use the word advisedly—those delicious women around whose loveliness plays the sheet lightning of wit, playfulness, archness, mischief or, to use the prettier French word, espièglerie—these were left out of her repertoire. But if she could not play Rosalind, Mrs Jordan could! Yes! so that Rosalind herself would have approved, so that Shakespeare himself would have gone behind the scenes to kiss her! So said her admirers. Mrs Jordan was a famous, laughing beauty; her laugh indeed rings in the corridors still—it is embalmed in a thousand memoirs. She had the misfortune to become the unacknowledged wife of a royal duke, and in a union of 20 years to show all the royal virtues while her titled spouse showed all the plebeian meannesses, allowing her to pay his debts—a pitiable story. This lovely and romping Mrs Jordan, who could laugh so well, had much occasion to weep, poor thing; the grandeur of her liaison brought her little happiness, dignity or honor. When the light of a great genius shines through a beautiful woman it is like that which falls through a richly stained window—it glows with a thousand bright tints which even the author did not foresee. To have witnessed Mrs Siddons' Portia might again have called back William Shakespeare to the theater. Godwin praises in it "her demure and queen like smile." A charming expression.

Wheat Importation into Great Britain.

During the six months ending June 30, 1878, Great Britain imported 25,354,909 cwt of wheat against 22,213,524 for the corresponding period in 1877, and 21,702,299 for the first six months in 1876. Of her entire wheat importation 16,035,[illegible] cwts came from the United States in 1878, 9,718,[illegible] cwts in 1877, and 10,784,803 cwts in 1876. The United States, therefore, supplied Great Britain with [illegible] per cent of her imported wheat in 1878 against about 44 per cent last year and a little less than 50 per cent in 1876.

Burlington Hawkeye: The latest sentimental agony [illegible] in a tender ballad beginning:

[illegible] will come over me [illegible]
When the grass grows [illegible]

We can't positively say what, but if the [illegible] fence is [illegible] probably be a cow.

Norristown (Pa) Herald: [illegible]

A GREAT EFFORT

SOMETHING NEW FOR BOSTON—A CHANGE FROM THE ORATORY OF WEBSTER, EVERETT, STORY AND CHOATE—THE RABBLE POURER OF THE SAND LOTS IN FANEUIL HALL

Boston, the center of American culture, and Faneuil hall which boasts of having heard the voices of the orators who speak for the ages, have had a new experience. On the evening of the 5th Denis Kearney spoke there. An outline of his remarks is as follows:

Mr Chairman and Fellow Workingmen and Women of Boston: On behalf of the workingmen of the Pacific Coast I thank you for this grand and enthusiastic reception. In order to beat responsive to the popular will and expression that went up from this meeting to-night when a certain man's name was mentioned I feel like bringing a message of greeting and love to that man who is lesser than Macbeth yet greater—to that fiery and incomparable Rupert of debate—[Voice: "Good Boy"] to that chivalrous and white plumed Navarre of the rostrum, the gallant, gifted, glorious Butler. [Great applause, and cries of "Say it again."] We bid him take heart and hope, and hope that he will receive his reward from the workingmen of Massachusetts he so justly merits, for his bold and outspoken action in behalf of downtrodden humanity. [Applause.] With the remark "It's getting hot, Mr Chairman," Kearney at this point took off his coat and loosened his cravat, amid [illegible] and cheers and laughter of the audience. Continuing, he said: I am sorry, friends, that we are not rich enough to be able to hire Beecher to knock the bottom out of hell. [Laughter.] What means this outpouring of the people? What means this grand tidal wave? What is the matter with the country, that the workingmen are arising from north to south, from west to east? To do what? To take charge of their own affairs. [Applause.] And here upon the altar of Liberty, Mr President—here where the sun first dawned upon the infant brow of Liberty—here, where free men and free women have spoken—here, in the second century of the independence of America—we find a natural and popular uprising of the people. This vast uprising of the people, what does it mean, I ask you? [Applause.] Does it not mean death to the railroad robber and the lecherous thieving bondholder? [Applause.] And does it not mean death to the political bummer? [Applause.]

My fellow countrymen, as a representative of the poor working classes, I appear before you to-night [applause, and cries of "Good"] with no classic language with which to fool my hearers. [Applause.] Believing the English language contains in the neighborhood of 60,000 words, I am in possession of a few hundred of these words and use them in my humble, plain, unvarnished way, to extol virtue and condemn robbery. [Applause.]

The speaker then paid his respects to the press and the associated press. Newspapers from the earliest days of printing had been more in the interest of cut-throats, political bilks, daylight thieves and midnight assassins. For reporters of the press I have great respect. [Laughter.] They are workingmen, like ourselves, working for bread and butter. [Laughter.] But for the villainous, serpent like slimy imps of hell [laughter] that own these newspapers I have the utmost contempt. The first thief that comes along with a purse of gold, stolen from the masses, offers it to a newspaper proprietor and buys a column of his newspaper.

A villainous, thieving infamous band of scallawags [laughter] that are aiming to control public opinion. If the workingmen of the United States possessed within their breasts a single spark from which the flame of freedom could be fanned, they would not permit such monsters to live in their midst; they would hurl these infernal, lying scallawags from power and select honest men to transmit plain unvarnished news. I don't care, of course, how I look, that's my business, and nobody's else. [Laughter and applause.] As to ungrammatical sentences and ungrammatical speeches, for $2.50 I can always hire a man to write a grammatical speech [laughter] but it takes millions to buy an honest man, be he ever so ungrammatical. [Applause.]

Endowing the Princes.

(From the New York Herald.)

A pleasant debate comes up in parliament every time there is a son or daughter of the queen to be allowanced or dowered. The Radicals want to know what they have done to earn it. The question is very feebly answered by the Conservatives. In fact, it is considered the respectable thing to do, and not respectable to oppose. The result always is that the allowance or dower, or settlement for marriage, or whatever it may be, is voted, and, as in the recent case of providing Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, $50,000 a year to marry the daughter of Prince Charles of Prussia, the queen is thanked for asking it. This debate was unusually funny, if any Englishman were susceptible to humor on so solemn a subject.

Disraeli introduced it by a speech eulogistic of the queen and her brood. Lord Granville said Prince Arthur was the first to volunteer for active service in the late war flurry. Sir Charles Dilke wanted first a report showing the number of princes and princesses endowed since William of Orange came in. He also said the queen had private property. Sir Stafford Northcote cited precedents of grants to younger sons. Mr. George Anderson said the princes did nothing for their money, but were immersed in pleasures. Gladstone supported it, and used the old argument that the necessity to come to parliament for each of these allowances strengthened its control over the crown.

But there is a reason at the bottom which will keep any but the advanced radicals from contesting this affair. The great estates were all acquired by conquest or by spoliation of the church. They were distributed by the conqueror and his successors to his followers as their share of the spoil, or for services rendered or for feudal service to be rendered. The crown had the right to the lion's share, and if it had kept it, would not need to come to the house for grants to its whelps. Because its share has been distributed the nation has assumed its support. To deny it would raise a reckoning which would be a very disturbing question, the more so because these feudal landlords have shuffled off all that burden of the public defense which they assumed as a condition of these grants, and have imposed it upon the masses, by taxes upon consumption. So the endowing of the royal whelps will never be seriously disputed until growing democracy shall have broken up the rights of primogeniture and all the great entailed estates.

"What is the outward and visible sign in baptism?" said a person to his Sunday school class. "The baby, sir," was the prompt reply.

THE ARGUMENT FOR ONE ONLY MAN

It would be premature to say that the Republican party will or will not present Gen Grant for the presidency two years hence It is certain that Grant's personality is the most remarkable of that of any American citizen and that his name has a deep hold not only on the strong partisan feeling of the Republican masses but on large numbers of men who are not attached especially to party and whose views are in the main of an independent and conservative kind Yet there is another class original in thought able in criticism and independent in action who are not believers in Grant and see no reason why his name should be influential with any large number of his countrymen For critics of this class it is easy to show that there isn't any high merit in Grant and consequently insufficient foundation for the popular estimate of the man But a great reputation is a fact to be noted nevertheless Any wide popular belief is a power No matter how sure one may be that his argument has confuted it it holds its ground with as much persistence and tenacity as if it were unconscious that it even had an assailant. Grant is one of those who have done things His name stands for great achievements It represents the ideas and recollections of a tremendous struggle The general mind materializes such a struggle and puts the man who led it for the idea which lay behind it Hence all attempts to convince the country that there is nothing in Grant and nothing of him fail utterly People do not listen The subtleties of argument are all lost upon them

But those who are arguing that we must have Grant because we need 'a strong hand' at the helm and that he is the only man who can give the country a safe government are talking nonsense A prominent eastern journal properly combats this folly thus

'It isn't true that a strong government is required It isn't true that there is no national salvation for us except under Grant. It is contemptible to assert the existence of such emergencies and necessities All this is very correctly said Gen Grant is not indispensable to the country No man is It is inconceivable that anybody could be weaker than Hayes and yet the country even under his magistracy, is in no danger nor likely to be By many severe tests and proofs it has been shown that the strength of the country is in the body of the people A strong magistrate however desirable, is not indispensable, and a weak magistrate, however contemptible will not in ordinary times do much harm to the country

The country, therefore, though it may make Grant president again, doesn't need him as a savior. On that argument he never could be elected It is not only absurd but in a certain degree is offensive to the national character. Any citizen should be ashamed to utter stuff so pitiful If there is but one man now, who is to be his successor after he is called to pay the debt of nature? There may be reasons in 1880 for supporting Grant for president, but this can be no part of one of them.

When went there by age since the great flood,
But it was famed for more than for one man?
When could they say till now that talked of Rome
That her wide walks encompassed but one man
Now is it Rome, indeed and room enough
When there is in it but one only man?

The argument for "one only man" is no argument for any country or time, and least of all for a country whose government like ours is founded on the widest popular basis.

THE INTEREST QUESTION

The Farmer has an article on the interest question from which, though it is well written, we must dissent. It says THE OREGONIAN quoted a number of eminent writers on financial science, who agreed that usury laws fail of their object, but they wrote essays based on the financial condition of a country where money is a drug—or at least is so abundant that it overflows into every trade enterprise and occupation, and is loaned at one-third the legal rate of interest in Oregon Let it be observed, however, that abundance of money nowhere makes interest cheap unless the security be good This is the touchstone of all credits Money is not 'a drug" anywhere but even where it is abundant a usury law will not help any person to get it In places where it is not abundant, and where at the same time good security cannot be furnished the interest will be high, and every attempt to reduce it by law only makes it higher Thus a law to reduce the rate of interest operates more against the borrower in a country where money is scarce than in a country where it is abundant. A country like ours is the very one which is most disturbed by a law which intervenes between the borrower and the lender. The talk about taking advantage of a debtor's needs to extort high interest" is based on a singular misconception of the whole matter When a debtor has to pay high interest it is simply because the creditor is taking great risk, and this risk always has to be paid for, whether interest is limited by law, or not In such case the borrower is forced to pay for two risks—one for the risk the lender takes that the money will not be repaid and the other for the risk incurred by violation of the law All this is illustrated by incidents that happen almost every day under all men's observation and yet though their own experience, added to the teachings of financial science, daily tells them that the effort to regulate the price of money by law is a failure, many somehow still tenaciously adhere to the idea that it can be done Really it is on a level with Jack Cade's philosophy under which the price of beer and bread was to be reduced for the happy people of England when he should be king

Major W V Rinehart Indian agent for Malheur reservation, is in the city. All his Indians went on the war path not one being left The outbreak so far as his Indians are concerned was simply a consequence of the reduction of the appropriation for their support and a rebellion against the rule that the able bodied ones should work for their subsistence They would be contented enough if they were well fed and allowed to live in idleness But they will learn that rebellion will not [illegible] Major Rinehart supposes that all the Malheur Indians will return to their reservation because they can go nowhere else He believes the leaders of the [illegible] ought to be severely dealt with

Representative Hendrick B Wright of Pennsylvania is the author of the remarkable bill to give $500 to every settler on the lands Again in his case is the proverb the ingratitude of republics verified on his return to the bosom of his constituency instead of being received with a parade of civic and military associations headed by brass bands he found himself ignominiously sued for $ 0 by a constituent who says that he expended that amount to hire a band to serenade said Wright and peddle tickets for him on election day In answer Wright undertook to offset his long and arduous services for the public good claiming that he fed the hungry and performed all sorts of generous things for the public To this his hard hearted prosecutor who wanted his money returned for his $ [illegible] knocked his ambitious antagonist out of time by replying that sir Wright had never given a loaf of bread to a hungry man without expecting a barrel of flour in return Thus do our toiling public servants meet ungrateful returns

In regard to the affairs of Agent Wilbur of Yakima concerning which various representations have been made we may say that after some inquiry we learn that the supposed difficulty is only a technical one arising from the fact that certain funds furnished him under his former appointment were disbursed under the later one It is a matter which should easily be adjusted if this be all there is of it No one who knows Mr Wilbur supposes he has knowingly done any wrong thing He has gone to Washington we are informed to set matters right

When the greatest want of all classes and especially of those who don't like to work is money it does seem an outrage that a government which has unlimited power to supply the wants of its people in this regard should refuse to print and distribute greenbacks It can be done at such slight cost too It is this indifference of a cold hearted government to the necessities of its people that makes tramps feel as if they had no country and shows how indispensable it is to push the organization of the greenback party

The New York Tribune on the Kearney-Butler Interview

[New York Tribune Aug 9]

It ought to be perpetuated by some possible memorial It might be embodied in one of Rogers groups of statuary Kearney shadowed forth in mud and Butler beaming in alabaster, by way of signifying the qualities which pertain to each Judged from his speech a distinct element of mud percolates the spiritual duc s of Kearney and pervades the texture of his moral construction The only pungent drop in this puddle of political pap was contributed by Butler who suggested that the bones of Chinamen made excellent manure and that might be a partial set off against conveniences of their residence on the Pacific slope This is a statesmanlike way of meeting a great question and opposes no negation to Kearney's theory that the best thing to do with the Orientals is to kill them and cut off their tails to furnish wigs for the bald and deserving poor

The Trading Power of the Nationals

[From the New York Sun]

Some persons sneer at this new party on account of the paucity of its numbers Its numbers may be small, however and yet sufficient to constitute the balance of power when the voters of the state are nearly equally divided between the two parties Such a condition of things gives a third party a great opportunity to sell out We judge from the accounts that the gathering at Syracuse is not composed exclusively of idealists, and it is very likely that before the election many of these earnest advocates of greenbacks will indicate to both the old parties their utter indifference to the distinction between paper and bullion, if only the amount is sufficient Indeed fruit of this kind proved a source of division rather prematurely at the very planting time It was charged that one of the leading men had already sold out

Michael Reese's Will.

[From the San Francisco Call]

Previous to his recent departure for Europe Mr Reese made a will which is now on deposit in this city It is known that this will makes several bequests to charitable and ecclesiastical institutions among which are $675,000 to the state university $100 000 to the woman's lying-in hospital and $100 000 each to the three orphan asylums—Hebrew Catholic and Protestant It is believed that the $1,075 000 mentioned above is but a portion of his bequests to public institutions though these are doubtless the largest Mr Reese had two nephews in this city, one of whom Joseph Rosenberg is appointed executor Mr Reese had frequently stated in confidential conversation with friends that when he died the people of San Francisco would discover that he had not lived entirely for himself

PRESENTATION TO A LIFE-SAVING HERO—On Friday morning last as the steamer Idaho was steaming out from San Francisco bound for Portland and while yet on the [illegible] a colored rough bar outside the Heads a colored waiter attached to the steamer named Thos Nolan tired and weary of the hardships in this world caused by unrequited love deliberately plunged into the foaming ocean to [illegible] whence no traveler ever returneth A young English tourist by the name of Mr Edward D Thornburgh Cropper seeing a fellow man overboard and ignorant of its being a deliberate act immediately divested himself of coat and vest and jumped after him but owing to the high running sea was unable to reach him Another passenger (a soldier) in high spirits of an anticipated early victory over the Bannacks east of the mountains—mistaking the two men in the ocean for the Indian Foe and feeling himself just then as capable of fighting in water as out jumped over to The steamer in the meantime having been stopped and engines reversed a life boat was manned and lowered—soldier and Mr Cropper were rescued An attempt was then made for the drowning waiter who sank out of sight ere the boat reached him

During the intervening time between the above occurrence and yesterday (Thursday) evening some of the passengers desirous of fittingly rewarding a heroic act as that of Mr Cropper secretly drafted resolutions commending and applauding the same and in the evening unbeknown to Mr C assembled in the ship's saloon Dana C Pearson Esq presiding and purser H Sonnenfeld acting as secretary A committee of two were appointed to introduce Mr Cropper which being done the chairman in a very neat and befitting speech presented the hero with the resolutions signatures of over a hundred attached The recipient being quite overcome, briefly but very feelingly thanked them for their handsome compliment so unexpected to him Other gentlemen made appropriate remarks and the meeting, after a vote of thanks moved by the secretary for the chairman for the very able manner he conducted the proceedings adjourned

ACCIDENT TO THE SHUBRICK —From the Astoria paper of the 9th it is learned that the U S lighthouse tender Shubrick, Capt Kortz came in Thursday disabled On her cruise of the 13th lighthouse district the starboard main shaft was broken close up to the crank and disabled the exhaust eccentric The accident happened on the morning of August 1st, the fifth day out from San Francisco, but temporary repairs were made by Mr Cookson chief engineer and the noble steamer kept on her course, with one wheel, stopping at Port Orford Arago and Foulweather leaving supplies at those places, just as though nothing had occurred Capt Kortz expected to go on up to Puget Sound and deliver supplies to that part of the district, but this accident may compel him to return He was on his way into this port with one wheel working when the revenue cutter Thomas Corwin came along from a cruise, and, meeting him outside the bar, lent him a friendly hand by towing the disabled steamer into Astoria, arriving there Thursday forenoon

AGROUND—PULLED OFF —The steamship Great Republic while going down the river yesterday stuck on the bar at St. Helens and could not clear herself Soon after the steamer Welcome came along and hitched on. She tugged away for some time, but all in vain The steamer would not "budge a peg" Finding that she could not pull the ocean steamer off the Welcome came on. In a short time the swift-moving Bonita came along. Capt Babbidge kindly hitched on, and after a few resolute pulls he set the Great Republic afloat and turned her prow down stream. The ocean steamer gave the Bonita nine short whistles as a recognition of the services rendered and as the steamer moved off down the river the passengers cheered and waved a parting salute The Great Republic was pulled off at 3 o clock

A BOLD ATTEMPT —At an early hour last evening a very audacious attempt was made to burglarize a house of questionable repute on Yamhill street A burglar entered one of the windows in the second story while the inmates were down stairs and stole three handsome and valuable fur cloaks Before he got away his presence was discovered and the alarm given Several officers responded to the call and pursuit was given. The thief had effected an entrance by climbing up on the roof and he was compelled to descend in the same way The officers led the fellow such a merry chase that he was obliged to drop his booty which was recovered and restored to the owners. Aided by the darkness however the burglar managed to effect his escape

DREDGE DISABLED —About 12.30 A. M yesterday morning the steamship Oregon, while aground at St Helen's bar, backed down against the dredge and seriously disabled the latter The dredge was some distance away from the channel and the steamer in endeavoring to get off the sand backed against her The spud was broken short off, the roof of the dredge crushed in and considerable other damage done Had the "spud" not been snapped off suddenly by the force of the collision the dredge would have been sunk As it is it will require at least a week to repair the damage This is very unfortunate as the dredge was doing excellent service at St Helen's bar

GOOD RIDDANCE —We are glad to see that our efficient superintendent of streets is focalizing his ponderous intellectual powers on the old dilapidated wooden building which for so many years has stood on the north side of Washington street between Front and First streets The old structure has been in a tumble down condition for a long time, and been regarded as a public nuisance Recently an ordinance was passed by the common council providing for the prevention and removal of nuisances Under this ordinance the owner of the property is required to remove the building

BURGLARIZED —Thursday afternoon while Mrs Sylvester of East Portland, was away from home visiting some friends a couple of burglars entered her residence and stole therefrom [illegible] The money was locked in the bureau the drawer of which the thieves had pried open with an instrument A gold watch and chain which was lying in close proximity was not taken The thieves were evidently nervous lest their burglarious raid should be discovered No clue has yet been found leading to the apprehension of the thieves

WEEKLY OREGONIAN —Seldom has a more interesting number of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN been issued from this office than the current one It is filled with telegraphic news from all portions of the civilized world [illegible] editorial [illegible] local intelligence state and territorial news [illegible] market reports [illegible] the [illegible] newspaper [illegible] the northwest coast Price only 10 cents at the counter [illegible] a copy

Capt Kortz expected to go on up to Puget Sound and deliver supplies to that part of the district, but this accident may compel him to return. He was on his way into this port with one wheel working when the revenue cutter Thomas Corwin came along from a cruise, and, meeting him outside the bar, lent him a friendly hand by towing the disabled steamer into Astoria, arriving there Thursday forenoon

Aground—Pulled Off.—The steamship Great Republic, while going down the river yesterday, stuck on the bar at St. Helens and could not clear herself Soon after the steamer Welcome came along and hitched on. She tugged away for some time, but all in vain. The steamer would not "budge a peg" Finding that she could not pull the ocean steamer off, the Welcome came on In a short time the swift-moving Bonita came along Capt. Babbidge kindly hitched on, and after a few resolute pulls he set the Great Republic afloat and turned her prow down stream The ocean steamer gave the Bonita nine short whistles as a recognition of the services rendered, and as the steamer moved off down the river the passengers cheered and waved a parting salute The Great Republic was pulled off at 3 o'clock.

A Bold Attempt.—At an early hour last evening a very audacious attempt was made to burglarize a house of questionable repute on Yamhill street. A burglar entered one of the windows in the second story while the inmates were down stairs and stole three handsome and valuable fur cloaks Before he got away his presence was discovered and the alarm given. Several officers responded to the call and pursuit was given. The thief had effected an entrance by climbing up on the roof, and he was compelled to descend in the same way. The officers led the fellow such a merry chase that he was obliged to drop his booty which was recovered and restored to the owners. Aided by the darkness however, the burglar managed to effect his escape.

Dredge Disabled—About 12 30 A. M yesterday morning the steamship Oregon, while aground at St. Helen's bar, backed down against the dredge and seriously disabled the latter The dredge was some distance away from the channel and the steamer in endeavoring to get off the sand backed against her The "spud" was broken short off, the roof of the dredge crushed in and considerable other damage done Had the "spud" not been snapped off suddenly by the force of the collision the dredge would have been sunk As it is it will require at least a week to repair the damage This is very unfortunate as the dredge was doing excellent service at St Helen's bar.

Good Riddance.—We are glad to see that our efficient superintendent of streets is focalising his ponderous intellectual powers on the old dilapidated wooden building which for so many years has stood on the north side of Washington street between Front and First streets. The old structure has been in a tumble-down condition for a long time, and been regarded as a public nuisance Recently an ordinance was passed by the common council "providing for the prevention and removal of nuisances" Under this ordinance the owner of the property is required to remove the building

Burglarized.—Thursday afternoon while Mrs. Sylvester, of East Portland, was away from home visiting some friends, a couple of burglars entered her residence and stole there from $35 in coin The money was locked in the bureau, the drawer of which the thieves had pried open with an instrument A gold watch and chain which was lying in close proximity was not taken The thieves were evidently nervous lest their burglarious raid should be discovered. No clue has yet been found leading to the apprehension of the thieves

Weekly Oregonian.—Seldom has a more interesting number of the Weekly Oregonian been issued from this office than the current one It is filled with telegraphic reports from all portions of the civilized world choice miscellaneous reading editorial comment on all leading topics of the day local intelligence, state and territorial news complete and reliable market reports It is the only complete newspaper published in the northwest coast Price only 10 cents at the counter Buy a copy

ABLE AND WILLING

In answer to a little paragraph which appeared in The Oregonian yesterday morning we have received the following letter —

To the Editor of the Oregonian

If that gentleman who advertised for a man to work in a dairy is still anxious to procure the services of a first class workman he can be accommodated I have been a salesman in mercantile houses for the past twelve years and consequently know no more about a cow or anything connected with the dairy business than a Digger Indian knows about the Potter investigation

But as you seem to think that it is through a lack of willingness to work that this sinecure in the milk trade was not snapped up I write this to convince you that I, with many others, am perfectly willing to take hold at once yourself and the advertiser of course being responsible for consequences S BROWNSTONE

Yesterday Assistant Engineer Habersham, with a party of men, left this city for the purpose of making a survey at Cape Fairweather for a harbor of refuge for distressed vessels at that place When this work is completed he will proceed to the Alsea river and bay making thorough and complete surveys of both which will definitely settle the question as to its being made navigable for vessels The party will be absent about three weeks

THE WEBER PIANOS AHEAD

Among the thousands of endorsements which the Weber Pianos have received from the greatest singers and pianists of the world we give sample extracts of letters

NILSSON—I shall take every opportunity to recommend and praise your instruments.

DE MURSKA—Your instruments surpass my expectations and I rank you justly as the foremost manufacturer of the day

KELLOGG—For the last six years your Pianos have been my choice for the Concert Room and my own house

WEHLI—Mme Parepa called your Pianos the finest in the United States. I fully endorse that opinion They have no rival anywhere

CAREY—The richness and sympathetic quality of tone combined with great power make the Weber Piano my favorite

ANNA MEHLIG—I have selected a Weber Grand to be used at my Concerts during my engagement with Mr Theodore Thomas' Orchestra

MILLS—Amongst America's excellent Pianos the WEBER ranks first and foremost.

MUZIO—I consider the Weber Pianos the best Pianos in the world.

BRISTOW—To me the Weber Piano contains every thing that can be wished for in an instrument

Pease, Pattison Mason Maretzek, Brignoli Hoffman Morgan Mollenhauer and in fact every independent Artist of note are at present using the Weber Pianos in preference to all others

The Weber Pianos received the highest awards (95 out of a possible 96) at the Centennial the award of the judges reading as follows

"For sympathetic pure and rich tone combined with greatest power for intelligence and solidity of construction for a pliant and easy touch which at the same time answers promptly to its requirements together with excellence of workmanship"

ARE THEY IMPOSTERS.

PORTLAND August [illegible]

To the Editor of the Oregonian

We cannot guard too carefully against imposition The citizen should use the utmost [illegible] before investing his money in the furtherance of charlatanism It is not so much the fifty cents one invests as the aggravation it causes him when he finds he has been imposed upon by some scoundrel of a fellow who chuckles over his success in his way from the [illegible] the printer and the hotel keeper

No class of our fellow beings suffers more at the hands of pretenders than do the spiritualists and those who believe in this sublime philosophy none are more earnest in exposing and freeing out everything that which tries to foster itself upon their credulity and the general public

Announcement has been made through handbills industriously circulated throughout the city that on Sunday night (only this one night) an entertainment will be given surpassing anything ever heard of before in developing the doubted science of spiritualism Troops of spirits will appear in the broad glare of gaslight Heavy articles of furniture will float about the hall and most wonderful of all Professor Stanley's head will be taken off his shoulders by the spirits and suspended in mid air It would be worth a round sum were these assertions true, to see the headless trunk of the professor strut about the stage Where is the spiritualist let alone the skeptic that believes such a performance possible The worst feature however shown by the handbill is the anxiety of the management to sell choice seats in advance These the bill says can be had on Saturday and Sunday afternoons thereby avoiding the rush on Sunday night Now this is evidently the funny part of the business and the undersigned trusts that those who intend testing the character of the performance (if one be given) will find time to purchase tickets just before entering the theater. The San Francisco Chronicle of the 2d ult contains a lengthy account of a performance which did not take place at Union Hall in that city on the previous evening (Sunday) The programme was similar to the one now being distributed here The Oregonian of the 23d ult also had a brief dispatch to the same effect The name of the pretender was given as Davenport but how are we to know that Davenport and Stanley are not one and the same person B

THINGS IN GENERAL.

Gen R B Marcy, inspector general of the army, has forwarded to the army commission a strong recommendation for the transfer of the Indian bureau to the war department

It is said that Jim Keene has played it lately in New York on Jay Gould in a way that Jay must despise Jim turned from a bull to a bear and hugged Jay on certain stocks very strong

Bob Ingersoll announces that he will lecture next spring He will have three lectures Robert Burns, literary Tramps political, and Some Mistakes of Moses religious

General Butler says that he turned over all of General Twiggs plate down to the last spoon, to the quartermaster's department and has the receipt for it. What became of it subsequently the General does not know

Boston Post They say that French loses a good deal in translation It probably does but English gains immensely, for the Paris Figaro says "a glass of beer costs three cents in Cincinnati and a boat of beer five cents

Slang is a bad thing for all men but it fastens itself upon Congressman Vest of Missouri Colonel Vest is now stumping his district for re election and whenever he gets up to speak some wag always asks him to pull himself down

The deacons of the Independent Lutheran church of Galena Ill to prevent candidates for a call ringing in old sermons upon them decide upon a text on Thursday and telegraph it to the candidate who is expected to preach therefrom on the Sunday following

The Philadelphia Record says the involuntary retirement of Congressman Thompson of Butler shows how fickle is public favor He let no consideration of country or conscience step between him and the determination of the caucus—and now see where he has landed

Four wagons had to be sent from the ministry of finance the day after the national fete to carry away the money taken at the gates of the Paris exposition on the 30th of June Ordinarily no money is taken at the gates, as tickets must be purchased elsewhere, but the day of the fete the price of admission was only five cents and no tickets were required.

A cultured Boston paper says that when the Tallapoosa arrived in Newport with Secretary Thompson on board that distinguished mariner gave these orders Avast there Reef yer windlass! Lower away yer poop deck! Now bring me another brandy and soda This mean intimation that the bold buccaneer of the Wabash does not understand his business should be severely rebuked

The machinery of the Mint in London is so antiquated that it can scarcely maintain the needed supply of coin and if any great and sudden extra demand were made upon it as would be the case in the event of a war it would be utterly inadequate to meet it London, the largest and wealthiest of the great cities of Europe is the only one not provided with the best modern minting facilities It is probable that a new mint will be erected soon in a central position

In "Andrews Bazar" are gathered from the great fashion centers of Europe as well as America useful suggestions hints and notes which the cultivated in matters of dress and art cannot fail to appreciate Send ten cents for sample copy to W R Andrews Cincinnati

SATURDAY MORNING AUGUST 10 1878

CITY.

DEATH FROM DROWNING—HEROIC CONDUCT On Tuesday morning last as the steamer Idaho was steaming out from San Francisco bound for Portland and while yet on the rough bar outside the Heads a colored waiter attached to the steamer named Thos Nolan tired and weary of the hardships in this world caused by unrequited love, deliberately plunged into the foaming ocean to go from whence no traveler ever returneth A young English tourist by the name of Mr Edward D Thornburgh Cropper seeing a fellow man overboard and ignorant of its being a deliberate act immediately divested himself of coat and vest and jumped after him but owing to the high running sea was unable to reach him Another passenger (a soldier) in high spirits of an anticipated early victory over the Bannacks east of the mountains—mistaking the two men in the ocean for the Indian Foe and feeling himself just then as capable of fighting in water as out jumped over too The steamer in the meantime having been stopped and engines reversed a life boat was manned and lowered—soldier and Mr Cropper were rescued An attempt was then made for the drowning waiter who sank out of sight ere the boat reached him During the intervening time between the above occurrence and yesterday (Thursday) evening some of the passengers desirous of fittingly rewarding a heroic act as that of Mr Cropper secretly drafted resolutions commending and applauding the same, and in the evening unbeknown to Mr C assembled in the ship's saloon Dana C Pearson Esq presiding and purser H Sonnenfeld acting as secretary A committee of two were appointed to introduce Mr Cropper which being done, the chairman in a very neat and befitting speech presented the hero with the resolutions, signatures of over a hundred attached The recipient being quite overcome briefly but very feelingly thanked them for their handsome compliment so unexpected to him Other gentlemen made appropriate remarks and the meeting after a vote of thanks moved by the secretary for the chairman for the very able manner he conducted the proceedings, adjourned

ACCIDENT TO THE SHUBRICK.—From the Astoria paper of the 9th it is learned that the U S lighthouse tender Shubrick Capt Kortz came in Thursday disabled On her cruise of the 13th lighthouse district the starboard main shaft was broken close up to the crank and disabled the exhaust eccentric The accident happened on the morning of August 1st the fifth day out from San Francisco but temporary repairs were made by Mr Cookson, chief engineer, and the noble steamer kept on her course, with one wheel stopping at Port Orford, Arago and Foulweather leaving supplies at those places, just as though nothing had occurred Capt Kortz expected to go on up to Puget Sound and deliver supplies to that part of the district, but this accident may compel him to return He was on his way into this port with one wheel working when the revenue cutter Thomas Corwin came along from a cruise, and, meeting him outside the bar, lent him a friendly hand by towing the disabled steamer into Astoria arriving there Thursday forenoon

AGROUND—PULLED OFF—The steamship Great Republic, while going down the river yesterday, stuck on the bar at St Helens and could not clear herself Soon after the steamer Welcome came along and hitched on. She tugged away for some time, but all in vain. The steamer would not "budge a peg" Finding that she could not pull the ocean steamer off, the Welcome came on In a short time the swift-moving Bonita came along Capt. Babbidge kindly hitched on, and after a few resolute pulls he set the Great Republic afloat and turned her prow down stream. The ocean steamer gave the Bonita nine short whistles as a recognition of the services rendered, and as the steamer moved off down the river the passengers cheered and waved a parting salute The Great Republic was pulled off at 3 o'clock.

A BOLD ATTEMPT.—At an early hour last evening a very audacious attempt was made to burglarize a house of questionable repute on Yamhill street. A burglar entered one of the windows in the second story while the inmates were down stairs and stole three handsome and valuable fur cloaks Before he got away his presence was discovered and the alarm given Several officers responded to the call and pursuit was given. The thief had effected an entrance by climbing up on the roof, and he was compelled to descend in the same way The officers led the fellow such a merry chase that he was obliged to drop his booty which was recovered and restored to the owners. Aided by the darkness however, the burglar managed to effect his escape.

DREDGE DISABLED—About 12 30 A M yesterday morning the steamship Oregon, while aground at St. Helen's bar, backed down against the dredge and seriously disabled the latter. The dredge was some distance away from the channel and the steamer in endeavoring to get off the sand backed against her The "spud" was broken short off, the roof of the dredge crushed in and considerable other damage done Had the "spud" not been snapped off suddenly by the force of the collision the dredge would have been sunk As it is it will require at least a week to repair the damage This is very unfortunate as the dredge was doing excellent service at St Helen's bar.

GOOD RIDDANCE.—We are glad to see that our efficient superintendent of streets is focalizing his ponderous intellectual powers on the old dilapidated wooden building which for so many years has stood on the north side of Washington street between Front and First streets. The old structure has been in a tumble-down condition for a long time, and been regarded as a public nuisance Recently an ordinance was passed by the common council "providing for the prevention and removal of nuisances" Under this ordinance the owner of the property is required to remove the building.

BURGLARIZED.—Thursday afternoon while Mrs. Sylvester, of East Portland, was away from home visiting some friends a couple of burglars entered her residence and stole there from $35 in coin The money was locked in the bureau, the drawer of which the thieves had pried open with an instrument A gold watch and chain which was lying in close proximity was not taken The thieves were evidently nervous lest their burglarious raid should be discovered. No clue has yet been found leading to the apprehension of the thieves

WEEKLY OREGONIAN—Seldom has a more interesting number of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN been issued from this office than the current one It is filled with telegraphic reports from all portions of the civilized world choice miscellaneous reading editorial comment on all leading topics of the day, local intelligence, state and territorial news complete and reliable market reports It is the only complete newspaper published on the northwest coast Price only 10 cents at the counter Buy a copy

IN LUCK—We are informed that Mr Louis Goldsmith senior partner of the firm of L Goldsmith & Co in this city has fallen heir to a considerable share of the Michael [illegible] estate As near as we can ascertain Mr Goldsmith's share in the estate is from $[illegible] to $1 000 000 He is in big luck [illegible]

SPIRITUALISM—Mrs J Price an inspired ent trance medium will be present to[illegible] to morrow at 141 First street room [illegible] and occupy the hour in answering questions In the evening at [illegible] she will speak in her trance subject The power of Spirit over Matter The public cordially invited seats free

A HANDSOME [illegible] We have been shown several handsome views of the steamer [illegible] taken by Mr H H Brodeck The steamer was taken while she was lying at the dock at Astoria The photographs are well executed and show the handsome craft to the best possible advantage

LOST A DIGIT Yesterday morning a brakesman named John Sullivan on train No 5 had the misfortune to have one of his fingers terribly crushed Sullivan was engaged in coupling cars at Hubbard station when his finger got caught and in an instant was mashed to jelly

BONDS FILED—The newly appointed city surveyor filed his official bond which was approved by the mayor, and took the oath of office His sureties are A N King and P W Davis

ABLE AND WILLING

In answer to a little paragraph which appeared in THE OREGONIAN yesterday morning we have received the following letter —

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

If that gentleman who advertised for a man to work in a dairy is still anxious to procure the services of a first class workman he can be accommodated I have been a salesman in mercantile houses for the past twelve years and consequently know no more about a cow or anything connected with the dairy business than a Digger Indian knows about the Potter investigation

But as you seem to think that it is through a lack of willingness to work that this slipecure in the milk trade was not snapped up I write this to convince you that I with many others am perfectly willing to take hold at once yourself and the advertiser of course being responsible for consequences S BROWNSTONE

NEUSTADTER BROS.

Last year the well known firm of Neustadter Bros was established in this city [illegible] the [illegible] which has been the business [illegible] absorbed a large proportion and has absorbed a large share of the trade This is a branch house of the San Francisco firm which was established in that city in 1851—twenty seven years ago The specialties of Neustadter Bros are standard shirts Standard patent overalls and other gents furnishing goods—all of which are of their own manufacture Dealers who purchase of this old and thoroughly established house have the advantage of dealing with the manufacturers direct Neustadter Bros are the only house on the Pacific coast that manufacture nearly all the furnishing goods they sell therefore their customers receive the benefits accruing from the one profit only as other houses in this line buy their goods of the manufacturers Their reputation for the full season has been greater than ever and complete in every particular

Neustadter Bros have recently been appointed sole agents for the Mission and Pioneer woolen mills of San Francisco These mills are the largest on the Pacific coast and goods manufactured by them are already too well known to require comment The assortment now on hand consists of Mission white family blankets Pioneer colored blankets flannel and flannel underwear tweed cassimeres shawls hosiery etc etc Merchants of Portland and those visiting the city with a view to purchase stock should not fail to call on Neustadter Bros and examine their large and magnificent assortment before buying elsewhere Give them a call Place of business west side Front street between Oak and Pine

RIVER AND COAST IMPROVEMENTS

During the first part of the coming week Lieut A H Payson of the corps of engineers, will visit the mouth of the Columbia river and make an accurate survey of the bar He will take a party of men with him to assist in the work

Monday next Assistant Engineer Bolton with a party of men will leave this city for the purpose of making a survey of Coos bay after which the Coquille river will be surveyed with reference to projected improvements at those places

The U S snag boat is now working in Yola slough above Salem She will proceed to Half Moon Bay on Saturday which is some distance up the Willamette and drop down the river removing all the snags from the channel as she comes

The new lighthouse which is to be erected at Tillamook Heads will be one of the most important on this upper coast to mariners and will be constructed as soon as possible Thursday morning Superintendent of Construction Wheeler left for that locality on business connected with this improvement

Yesterday Assistant Engineer Habersham with a party of men left this city for the purpose of making a survey at Cape Fairweather for a harbor of refuge for distressed vessels at that place When this work is completed he will proceed to the Alsea river and bay making thorough and complete surveys of both which will definitely settle the question as to its being made navigable for vessels The party will be absent about three weeks

Among the thousands of endorsements which the Weber Pianos have received from the great artists, ers and pianists of the world we give sample extracts of letters

NILSSON—I shall take every opportunity to recommend and praise your instruments.

DE MURSKA—Your instruments surpass my expectations and I rank you justly as the foremost manufacturer of the day

KELLOGG—For the last six years your Pianos have been my choice for the Concert Room and my own house

WEHLI—Mme PAREPA called your Pianos the finest in the United States I fully endorse that opinion They have no rival anywhere

CAREY—The richness and sympathetic quality of tone combined with great power make the Weber Piano my favorite

ANNA MEHLIG—I have selected a Weber Grand to be used at my Concerts during my engagement with Mr Theodore Thomas Orchestra

MILLS—Amongst America's excellent Pianos the WEBER ranks first and foremost

MUZIO—I consider the Weber Pianos the best Pianos in the world.

BRISTOW—To me the Weber Piano contains every thing that can be wished for in an instrument

Pease Pattison Mason Maretzk, Brignoli Hoffman Morgan Mollenhauer and in fact every independent Artist of note are at present using the Weber Pianos in preference to all others

The Weber Pianos received the highest awards (95 out of a possible 96) at the Centennial the award of the judges reading, as follows

For sympathetic pure and rich tone combined with greatest power (as shown in their Grand, Square and Upright Pianos) These three styles show the greatest [illegible] which at the same time [illegible] promptly to the requirements of [illegible] of the [illegible]

ARE THEY IMPOSTERS.

[illegible] August [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE [illegible]

We cannot guard too carefully against imposition The citizen should use the utmost care before investing his money in the furtherance of charlatanism It is not so much the fifty cents one invests as the ignominy [illegible] when he finds he has been imposed upon by some scoundrel of a fellow who chuckles over his success unless [illegible] the printer and the hotel keeper

No class of our fellow beings suffers more at the hands of [illegible] than the believer in this [illegible] philosophy more are more earnest in exposing and bringing to the light everything which tries to foster itself upon their credulity and the general public

Announcement has been made through handbills industriously circulated throughout the city that on Sunday night [illegible] an entertainment will be given surpassing anything ever heard of before in developing the doubted science of spiritualism Troops of spirits will appear in the broad glare of gaslight Heavy articles of furniture will float about the hall and most wonderful of all Professor Stanley's head will be taken off his shoulders by the spirits and suspended in mid air It would be worth [illegible] were these assertions true to see the headless trunk of the professor strut about the stage Where is the spiritualist let alone the skeptic that believes such a performance possible The worst feature however shown by the hand bill is the anxiety of the management to sell the seats in advance These the bill says can be had on Saturday and Sunday afternoons thereby avoiding the rush on Sunday night Now this is evidently the funny part of the business and the undersigned trusts that those who intend testing the character of the performance (if one be given) will find time to purchase tickets just before entering the theater The San Francisco Chronicle of the 2d ult contains a lengthy account of a performance which did not take place at Union Hall in that city on the previous evening (Sunday) The programme was similar to the one now being distributed here THE OREGONIAN of the 31 ult also had a brief dispatch to the same effect The name of the pretender was given as Davenport but how are we to know that Davenport and Stanley are not one and the same person B

THINGS IN GENERAL.

It is said that Jim Keene has played it lately in New York on Jay Gould in a way that Jay must despise Jim turned from a bull to a bear and hugged Jay on certain stocks very strong

Bob Ingersoll announces that he will lecture next spring He will have three lectures Robert Burns literary Tramps political, and Some Mistakes of Moses religious

General Butler says that he turned over all of General Twiggs plate down to the last spoon, to the quartermaster's department and has the receipt for it What became of it subsequently the General does not know

Boston Post They say that French loses a good deal in translation It probably does but English gains immensely for the Paris Figaro says a glass of beer costs three cents in Cincinnati and a boat of beer five cents

Slang is a bad thing for all men but it [illegible] itself upon Congressman Vest of Missouri Colonel Vest is now stumping his district for re election and whenever he gets up to speak some wag always asks him to pull himself down

The deacons of the Independent Lutheran church of Galena Ill to prevent candidates for a call ringing in old sermons upon them decide upon a text on Thursday and telegraph it to the candidate who is expected to preach therefrom on the Sunday following

The Philadelphia Record says the involuntary retirement of Congressman Thompson of Butler shows how fickle is public favor He let no consideration of country or conscience step between him and the determination of the caucus—and now see where he has landed

Four wagons had to be sent from the ministry of finance the day after the national fete to carry away the money taken at the gates of the Paris exposition on the 30th of June Ordinarily no money is taken at the gates as tickets must be purchased elsewhere but the day of the fete the price of admission was only five cents and no tickets were required.

A cultured Boston paper says that when the Tallapoosa arrived in Newport with Secretary Thompson on board that distinguished mariner gave these orders Avast there! Reef yer windlass Lower away yer poop deck Now bring me another brandy and soda This means intimation that the bold [illegible] of the Wabash does not understand his business should be severely rebuked

The machinery of the Mint in London is so antiquated that it can scarcely maintain the needed supply of coin and if any great and sudden extra demand were made upon it as would be the case in the event of a war it would be utterly inadequate to meet it London the largest and wealthiest of the great cities of Europe is the only one not provided with the best modern minting facilities It is probable that a new mint will be erected soon in a central position

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Difficult Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of those diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This accounts in part for his great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so called Doctors through pretended friendship for the patients Look out for them they are knaves prompted by selfish motives and what they can make Be sure and ask for DR PAUL M BRENAN the Medical Lecturer and read his sign on his door

New System of Wagon Brakes.

TRULLINGER PATENT BRAKE.

NO SHOES TO WEAR OUT TIRES!

No Brake Bar used Will hold a Wagon anywhere from Backing or going Forward.

THIS NEW BRAKE NOW BEING INTRODUCED by the inventor J C Trullinger is a combination of friction gear applied to the hub of a wagon It is simple and light yet has more strength and durability than any other wagon brake now in use It is so attached to the wagon that it is out of the way of the gearing yet always reliable and at hand when required. Any teamster or mechanic can see at once its utility and effective force to hold a load on a down grade or to prevent horse backing when required The Brake is made entirely of iron no wooden part being necessary as no brake bar is used hence it does not carry mud and is not affected by wet and muddy or icy roads

We invite critical examination as we believe its merits can be demonstrated to any party who uses or understands a wagon brake

GENERAL NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

Return of the Victors.

NEW YORK Aug 10—The steamer bearing the victorious Columbia College crew was sighted [illegible] this morning and soon after wards reached the quarantine. The health officer waited long for the expected reception committee of the Columbia alumni but they not making an appearance he steamed to th[illegible] vessel with members of the press and there gave to the Henley victors their welcome After the health officer had passed the vesse[illegible] she steamed for her dock Just off Gover nors island a steamer chartered by th[illegible] alumni approached, those on board shoutin[illegible] the well known Columbia cry The crew were transferred to a little excursion steame[illegible] amid the cheers of their fellow passengers an[illegible] proceeded to the city where they were vociferously welcomed by waiting Columbia me[illegible] on the dock and an open carriage with tw[illegible] horses was in waiting to convey the crews t[illegible] Delmonico's The horses were quickly take[illegible] out and ropes were attached to the carriag[illegible] which were seized by a large party of Columbia men Two others, Boyd and Tompson took hold of the carriage pole as steersmen, Goodwin and Ridabock took a rear seat in th[illegible] barouche and Edson and Eldridge sat opposite The oars with which the crew achieve[illegible] the victory at Henley were also placed in th[illegible] carriage with blades pointing upward, one o[illegible] them decorated with an evergreen wreath. A procession was then formed heade[illegible] by the seventy-first regiment band and college ans carrying the Columbia flag. Then followed the carriage drawn by two lon[illegible] lines of enthusiastic young men, most o[illegible] whom displayed the Columbia white an[illegible] blue in badges, hankerchiefs or hat bands The reception committee, walked close behin[illegible] the carriage and then came a body o[illegible] students and others marching four abreas[illegible] Before the procession left the pier Alderma[illegible] Biglin greeted the members of the crew o[illegible] behalf of the board of aldermen, and tender ed their congratulations Captain Goodwi[illegible] arranged to confer with him next Monday i[illegible] regard to a reception at the city hall Whe[illegible] the procession started the officers and workmen on the dock gave hearty cheers whic[illegible] were responded to by the Columbia boys The line of march lay through West street Canal Broadway and Fifth avenue to Delmonico's Crowds of spectators were a[illegible] tracted along the route and the appearan[illegible] of the victorious crew was everywhere greet[illegible] with enthusiasm.

The Sand Lot Orator Among the Shoemakers.

NEW YORK, Aug 10—The [illegible] Lyn[illegible] (Mass) special says A larg[illegible] workmen collected around the [illegible] road depot about the hour that [illegible] orator was expected to arrive. He came an[illegible] the elements so mercilessly poured forth the[illegible] wrath that it was decided not to hold a mee[illegible] ing till Monday night The procession wa[illegible] formed at Crispin headquarters headed by [illegible] brass band and at 8 o clock the line of marc[illegible] taken up to the Sagamore house, where Kearney and the committee of reception we[illegible] staying Arrived there a halt was made an[illegible] about 3 000 stood out [illegible] in the rain an[illegible] the missionary from California made a sho[illegible] address from the balcony. After expressin[illegible] his regrets that the c[illegible] weather w[illegible] not more propitious he said he wanted th[illegible] workingmen of Lynn to take up the ne[illegible] battle cry of the Atlantic states—"the lech erous bondholder and mortgage smashe[illegible] must go The battle cry of the Pacif[illegible] was the Chinese must go, and we want [illegible] said the missing link to be forged by th[illegible] workingmen of the country belongs to yo[illegible] workingmen This balcony from which [illegible] address you was built by workingmen, bu[illegible] blood sucking, lecherous thieves look o[illegible] workingmen as beneath their notice, bu[illegible] they will rue the day they trampled on th[illegible] workingmen, on the rights of American citi zens There is no such thing as freedo[illegible] here The bird of liberty is a dunghil[illegible] rooster Freedom is a fraud This is a nic[illegible] state of things in Massachusetts I heard from Gen Butler yesterday [three cheers for Butler] that a man in order to vote here mus[illegible] know how to read and write. The bes[illegible] scholar and philosopher in Europe, who coul[illegible] not speak the English language, should h[illegible] come here and spend time necessary to becom[illegible] a citizen would be excluded under this rul[illegible] I heard also from Butler, that the last legislature passed a law by which a man [illegible] deprived of his living by exercising his righ[illegible] to vote Then why blame me for calling th[illegible] bird of freedom a dunghill rooster and you[illegible] freedom a fraud

There was the usual abuse of monopolie[illegible] followed by advice to pool their issues, and h[illegible] said good night A reception was held [illegible] one of the parlors at the close of the meetin[illegible] and many workingmen of Lynn were pr[illegible] sented Lynn is almost solid for Butler, [illegible] the agreed back centre and champion city [illegible] the state for strikes. The meeting Monda[illegible] night will be one of the largest whic[illegible] Kearney will address in Massachusetts

Question of Pacific Coast Freights.

NEW YORK Aug 10—Directors of th[illegible] Pacific Mail Steamship Company considere[illegible] to day the question of California freight[illegible] The matter of new contract with the Unio[illegible] and Central Pacific roads was referred [illegible] President Babcock with power to act. Th[illegible] Union Pacific road has settled its accounts o[illegible] freights under the old contract to July 1s[illegible] only a small amount of money being pa[illegible] over on account of steamships having bee[illegible] filled with freight The Acapulco had [illegible] freight list of $43 250 and Crescent City whic[illegible] sailed [illegible] day carried 45 cabin passengers an[illegible] a very large cargo of freight, the invoice f[illegible] which calls for $36 500 The new steam[illegible] City of [illegible] is at the docks and will be at on[illegible] placed on the Aspinwall route The contra[illegible] for passenger rates with the Union Pacif[illegible] road has not been abandoned, as reporte[illegible] but is being faithfully kept up It was state[illegible] to day by a Pacific Mail director that und[illegible] the contract Pacific Mail passenger rates [illegible] San Francisco are $13 the same as charg[illegible] by rail in consideration of which the Uni[illegible] Pacific road pays $5 head money for eve[illegible] through passenger carried by rail for th[illegible] month of June This amounted to $15,0[illegible] It was further stated that President Babco[illegible] will insist upon $[illegible]0 head money and th[illegible] the freight contract will probably be aba[illegible] d[illegible] Capt Babcock and Sidney Dillo[illegible] President [illegible] Union Pacific road have ha[illegible] one [illegible] on the subject and will me[illegible] again on Monday
